(The next page is 22.1)

22. REGULATION 22 - SYSTEM QUEUE OPERATION

(a) Regulation 22.4 - Settlement of Transactions – Auto Offset

If a Settlement Transaction with an Interbank Cash Element has been on the System Queue with a Settlement Status of “active” or “priority” for a period of time (currently one minute but may be varied at the discretion of the Reserve Bank), and the Settlement Transaction is not part of a Batch, is not selected and confirmed for Settlement using Targeted Bilateral Offset and is not selected for Settlement using the Multilateral Settlement Method, the Auto Offset functionality may be activated to enable that Settlement Transaction to Settle.

If the Auto Offset functionality is activated, the System will search the System Queue for Settlement Transactions with Interbank Cash Elements placed into the System by the receiving Bank or OEH sufficient to provide the paying Bank or OEH sufficient funds to Settle the queued payment. In order for Settlement to occur using Auto Offset, each Settlement Transaction must satisfy all the tests performed on it by the System Queue.

The System will select one or more payments with Interbank Cash Elements being paid from the receiving Bank or OEH to the paying Bank or OEH to allow the paying Bank or OEH sufficient ESCA funds to Settle the initial Settlement Transaction.

All payments then selected for Auto Offset will be Settled in full across the relevant Cash Accounts and ESCAs simultaneously.

The payments are posted in full to the respective Cash Accounts and ESCAs and are not subject to bilateral netting.

(b) Regulation 22.4 - Settlement of Transactions – Targeted Bilateral Offset

Settlement Transactions selected and confirmed for Settlement using Targeted Bilateral Offset will only be tested for Settlement together.

When testing Settlement Transactions using Targeted Bilateral Offset, the System will test whether, if all of the Settlement Transactions selected and confirmed were Settled simultaneously, all Settlement tests would pass.

If the Settlement Transactions are no longer selected and confirmed for Settlement using Targeted Bilateral Offset, those Settlement Transactions will not continue to be tested for simultaneous Settlement.

Settlement Transactions that pass testing using Targeted Bilateral Offset will be Settled in full across the relevant Cash Accounts and ESCAs simultaneously.

The payments are posted in full to the respective Cash Accounts and ESCAs and are not subject to bilateral netting.

RITS(c) Regulation 22.4 - Settlement of Transactions – Multilateral Settlement Group

If a Settlement Transaction that originated in an Eligible Settlement File is selected for Settlement using the Multilateral Settlement Method, it will only be tested for settlement as part of a Multilateral Settlement Group.

The System will periodically, at intervals determined by the Reserve Bank, search the System Queue for Settlement Transactions that are selected for Settlement using the Multilateral Settlement Method and that have a Settlement Status of “active” or “priority”. Settlement Transactions which meet this criteria will be included in a Multilateral Settlement Group for testing by the System Queue.

The System will calculate the aggregated Cash Elements and Interbank Cash Elements from the Settlement Transactions in the Multilateral Settlement Group and will test if there are sufficient funds available for each receiving and paying Bank or OEH to Settle all Transactions in the Multilateral Settlement Group.

If the Settlement Transactions in the Multilateral Settlement Group pass all System Queue tests, all payments in the group will be Settled in full across the relevant Cash Accounts and ESCAs simultaneously.

The payments are posted in full to the respective Cash Accounts and ESCAs and are not subject to bilateral or multilateral netting.

(d) Regulation 22.5 – Application of Commands to Settlement Transactions

The System records, among other things, the time at which Commands are received by the System and the time at which testing of Transactions on the System Queue commences. Commands will be acted upon by the System only after they have been posted to the execution file. Such posting occurs at a finite time after the Command has been received by the System.

It is therefore conceivable that the System could commence testing a Transaction for Settlement after a Command to alter the Settlement Status of that Transaction or to recall that Transaction has been received by the System but before the process of posting the Command to the Execution File has been completed.

By the use of the System, the Reserve Bank, Banks, OEHs and other Members acknowledge that the events set out above may occur and expressly acknowledge that the Reserve Bank is not liable for any loss to any person howsoever arising whether direct or consequential (including but not limited to loss of profits) or damages to persons or property arising out of the fact that the System cannot act on a Command until that Command has been executed.

(The next page is 25.1)

25. REGULATION 25 – LOW VALUE CLEARING SERVICE

(a) Regulation 25.1 – Sending and receiving Eligible Transfer Files

Eligible Transfer Files may be sent to the System at any time during the hours specified in the User Guides.

(b) Regulation 25.2 – Member appoints an agent(s)

A Member may only appoint an agent(s) for the purposes of the Low Value Clearing Service by submitting to the Reserve Bank a duly executed Appointment of Agent Form, substantially in the form set out in Exhibit 25A in respect of that agent.
